Faith or Feelings?

Since God is faithful to equip us, we don't have to fear difficulties in our path.

2 Corinthians 3:4-6

Trusting God is easy when life's good or we're feeling competent. But is that genuine faith or a form of self-reliance? The apostle Paul said, "Our adequacy is from God" (2 Cor. 3:5). If the Lord calls us to do something that seems impossible or unreasonable, He will equip us for it. However, if we let feelings of fear, inadequacy, or unworthiness cause us to doubt Him, we could miss the opportunity.

Sometimes we're afraid to venture into a new endeavor, because we're listening to the wrong voices. The devil is always trying to deceive us and plant doubts in our mind so we won't trust the Lord (John 8:44). He hates to see a believer put aside fear, choose to believe God, and move forward in obedience.

A challenging assignment from the Lord is often a fork in the road. When God presents an opportunity to serve Him, we must decide if we'll take His path even though we might feel unqualified. We're called to live by faith, not fear. If you are standing at a crossroads, remember that your adequacy is not in yourself but in God, and nothing is too difficult for Him. Trust Him and take a step.
